HOMECOMING SPIRIT — The Pep Club staged a variety of activities for Homecoming Week, October 12 - 18, for more pictures please turn to page 4 and page 8.

Student Council cancels dance

A few changes have been made on this year's dance schedules. Traditionally at Bishop Kelly, there have been four dances, with the exception of the Junior-Senior Prom. This year we will have only three dances.

The Valentine's Dance has been eliminated completely. Carol Wolter, ASB President, says There is not enough time for the dance, and there is no one to put it on, according to Wolter. Most of the clubs and classes have already saved money for other dances and projects.

The annual Christmas Dance has also been cancelled. According to Carol Wolter, there are already too many activities in December. Every weekend until Christmas there is either a boys' or a girls' basketball game, and after Christmas there is a girls' basketball tournament. Therefore, the only available date for the dance would be Friday, December fifth.

Student Council decided that it would be much easier to combine the two dances into a Winter Formal. This will be a girl ask boy dance, and it will be held on January 30, 1981. They feel that this is a fantastic idea and they hope that it is well accepted by the rest of the student body. Also in place of the missing dances there will be many more sock hops. Sock hops are less expensive to put on and to attend.

50% Eligible Voters Cast Votes in Mock Election

By Mike Trapp

On Monday, October 13, the students of Bishop Kelly voted on the presidential and Idaho Senatorial races. The ballots were taken during activity period in room four. The election was run by the Journalism class. The election was voluntary, with about 50% eligible voters showing up. The ballots included the names of the four presidential candidates: John Anderson, Jimmy Carter, Ed Clark and Ronald Reagan. It also included Steve Symms and Frank Church, the two men running for the Idaho Senate seat. There also was a, "Why did you vote this way?" question on the ballot.

Reagan was the winner of the Presidential race with 107 votes. Most of the comments made about him were positive. Students felt that he would be a strong leader and he would put the U.S. back on our feet economically and militarily. However, some felt that Reagan could cause a war.

Anderson was the runner-up, (contrary to the gallop polls) with 73 of the votes. Most felt that he would be a good medium between Carter and Reagan.

Carter came in third place with 39 votes. Most comments about him were negative. Many students were fed up with his foreign policy and poor economics, but some felt that he was the best experienced candidate.

Clark came in last place with 13 votes. Most that voted for Clark felt that the government controlled society too much and that he would change that.

In the Idaho Senatorial race, Church was the winner with 121 votes. Students felt that he was the best for Idaho and that he would best represent Idaho's people. The only bad comments about Church were on his decision on the issue of abortion. The comments were that Church is pro abortion, but this is not true. Frank Church is pro choice, not pro abortion.

Symms had 90 votes. Some felt that Symms represented a change for Idaho. His main faults were that he lacked experience, and that he had a poor congressional voting record.

Alltogether, the poll represented a positive effort on the part of the students to express their views on a very important election. Most of the students are not yet old enough to vote, but the issues and decisions that the candidates represent may greatly change our lives.

BK RAISES $ FOR ALGERIA

In an effort to aid the people left homeless by the recent earthquake in Algeria, students at Bishop Kelly High School are earning money to help the approximate 120,000 victims reconstruct their homes.

Members of the sophomore class have volunteered to donate one hour's pay from their jobs, while those who don't work have also given what they could to help the homeless people, according to Rev.

James R. Wilson, principal of Bishop Kelly.

Mr. John Wargo's Social Problems classes are selling "Halloween

Insurance" in an attempt to raise money for the same cause. For one dollar, a member of the Social Problems class will clean up any messes in your yard incurred during Halloween. All money collected from both projects will be sent to Algeria along with a check from the Diocese Catholic Charities Fund, Fr. Wilson stated. He also added that anyone wishing to purchase Halloween Insurance or make a donation should send one dollar to Bishop Kelly High School, 7009 Franklin Road, Boise, Idaho 83709.

It's Pumpkin Time Again

Ellen Lawless

As I opened my mail the other day, I came across a very interesting letter from a little girl named Dorinda. I thought it would be nice if I could share this letter with my readers. Here it is:

Dear Ms. Editor—

Some mean people I know told me the other day that the Great Punkin isn't real and never was. They all believe in goses and goblins and stuff, but not in the Great Punkin. I cannot believe how stoopid some people are. I know he is real 'cause I see him every Halyoween nite and he brings lots of candi to the good kids. Please tell them that he is really real and he won't bring them nuthin if they don't believe.

Thancyo.
A Great Punkin Fan, Dorinda

P.S. There is a Great Punkin—isn't there?

Well, Dorinda, I guess that you think you're the only young girl who wonders about the "Great Punkin." I think that all of your friends believe in the "Great Punkin" too, but they will not admit that it is true.

The reason for people believing in the witches and goblins is because of the Druids, an order of priests in ancient Gaul. They believed that these creatures would come out on Halloween night to do harm to people. So now people dress up as ghosts and witches on Halloween night, mostly to go trick-or-treating, but sometimes to scare others.

The pumpkins are tied in with Jack-o-lanterns, an old Irish superstition about a man named Jack who walked the world with a lantern. Jack was too much of a miser to get to heaven when he died, and he was played too many jokes on the devil to get to hell, so he was to walk around the world until the judgement day. Well anyway, this is how pumpkins enter in the festivities of Halloween.

The "Great Punkin" is a very special pumpkin as Dorinda said, he does bring candy to all of the GOOD children. So Dorinda, do not listen to all of the mean people who tell you that there is no "Great Punkin." They will be the ones missing out.

My answer to Dorinda's question is:
Yes Dorinda, there is a "Great Punkin."

Is Winning Everything?

Where should our priorities lie here at Bishop Kelly? As students at Bishop Kelly, we feel that the school's main objectives should be to provide a good education and install Christian values in its students. We feel that John Wargo has consistently worked to achieve these goals throughout his years here at Bishop Kelly.

Years from now, when his players are no longer playing football few, if any of them will remember the scores of their games. They will, however, retain the responsibility and maturity they gained by playing under Coach Wargo.

Let us not forget that the purpose of sports is supposed to be for the players. The players should not feel the pressures of having to win.

They should be able to just have a good time and do the best they can.

We find it ironic that when a team does exceptionally well the talented players get the majority of the praise, Yet when a team has a losing season all fingers are pointed at the coaching staff.

As a coach at Idaho's only catholic high school, we feel Coach Wargo has his priorities in the right order. Sullivan, Vaughan

AUTUMN

The long, lazy, warm days of Summer
Are gone.
The short, brisk days of Autumn
Are upon us,
The long, dreary days of Winter lie
Just around the corner.

Suddenly-the grass turns to a rustic brown.
The leaves change from green to Golden-orange.
They slip from the branches and fall
Silently through the night, whispering
Sweet nothings to each other.

The squirrels scamper to and fro,
Searching hungrily for the few nuts left
In the barren ground.
The limbs on the trees bend heavily,
Exposing their ripe fruits.
The wind angrily whips their empty branches.

Summer days of lying on the beach are gone,
Instead, people walk hand in hand, down
Nature's path, admiring her surrounding beauty.
Children play in the leaves eagerly,
Knowing they will soon be gone.

Halloween costumes are displayed in stores,
Candy flowing from shelf to shelf.
Orange and black decorations occupy
Lamp-lit windows of many homes.
Black cats tiptoe through dark alleys,
And wicked witches are seen everywhere.

Halloween comes and goes, bringing
Yet another holiday upon us.
Thanksgiving brings the aroma of turkey,
Pumpkin pies, spices are relatives.
Christmas and New Year's arrive
Without a moment's notice.

Spring finally bounces into sight,
Bringing March winds and April showers.
Spring lags into Summer, bringing
Sun-filled days or pure laziness.
Summer lasts only a short time, only to be greeted again by Autumn.

Autumn never fails to show itself,
Bringing with it the end of Summer.
Its harsh winds make us ache for the Summer's sun.
Autumn is just another season,
Its patterns—
Never Ending.

Book Review

The Dead Zone

By Stephen King

Trudy Sullivan

If you were one of the many people who sat down low in your seat and could not control your scream at the end of the movie, "Carrie," The Dead Zone will have you anxiously flipping pages. "Carrie" was based on a novel by Stephen King, who is the author of The Dead Zone.

Similar to King's other novels, The Fire Starter and Carrie, the Dead Zone is an eerie story that follows a character's life, which is not typical of your average acquaintances.

Johnny Smith, a seemingly normal little boy, hits his head while ice skating. Then as a young man in his early 20's, he is in an auto accident and remains in a coma for years. When he wakes up, he is in a new world with a new president, new gadgets, and numerous other changes. But the world is not the only thing that has changed.

Something within John has changed, which in turn changes his whole life.

King, who has a unique writing style, keeps the reader guessing about characters that seem irrelevant to the story. When he finally ties together all the loose ends, the reader may end up a bit surprised.

The book's strange characters and frightening occurrences make it quite appropriate reading for the Halloween season.

Kelly Senior Soon To Be Flying High

Debbie Townsend, a senior at Bishop Kelly, is getting a flying license. She came from Harrisburg, Penn., but she was born and raised in Kuna.

For a greater part of her life, she has always wanted to fly. About a year ago, she joined the Harrisburg flying club. Debbie then began to learn how to fly. She almost completed the course in Harrisburg, but she had to move. Now she is in Boise completing the flying course with Gem Flight instruction. She hopes to have her license in a month. She has enough flying time to pass, but she still has to take her written test. "The written part of the test is very difficult," Debbie said, "It includes Physics and complex mathematical problems."

In the future, Debbie hopes to become a commercial pilot or an aerial land surveyor.

Ecology, Press Clubs Clean Up Courtyards

The journalism and ecology classes are involved in a project to clean up the courtyards. There is a contest between the two classes which will end in the spring of 1981. The judge, Father Wilson, will determine which courtyard looks the nicest. The losers of the contest will treat the winners to dinner.

The question in debate right now is whether to open the courtyards during lunch or activity period. If it was opened during lunch period, there would surely be a problem with litter. The activity period is the most promising goal. Students may go out in the courtyards while the weather is nice and chat with their friends or do their homework. In this way there would be less litter. If the courtyards are opened it is asked that the students respect the plants and not to litter.

Another idea that has been brought up is decorating the courtyards during the different holidays. For Halloween the courtyards may be decorated with jack-o-lanterns. For Christmas the journalism class may decorate the trees with lights.

Key Club Participates In Homecoming Projects

This year's Key Club is off to a fine start with 45 active members and an excellent staff. The officers of this Club are; moderator, Father Rodenspiel, senior Dave Grapp, President; senior Steve Woychick, Vice president; Junior Mike Russell, Treasurer, Secretary; junior Pat Shalz, treasurer, secretary, senior Scott Lawrence Sergeant of arms; and head of concessions, Rick Abajian, Junior.

The club is doing an excellent job and there are many people signing up every day because of it. Just some of the Community services that the club has accomplished are the car bash for Easter Seals, and Boise Cascade program. This showed to be a very big success. Also the talent show was well liked by all, including teachers and the fifties dance also was a big success. The club helped a family move its belongings and helped another clean their backyard.

During the week of Homecoming, the club escorted the royalty and put a "K" on the top of Tablerock.

Still yet to come, is a Senior citizen dance and ball which the Key Club has volunteered itself and the club planned on fixing up the marquis in the front of the school.

David Grapp says that the club is to organize and help the community, to volunteers its time, and also to help the school.

All of the money brought in to the club is almost spent right away with some kind of project. Just recently, the t-shirts have come in and the money was used on them.

Steelhead trip planned by R & G'sers

The Rod and Gun Club consists of people who love and respect the great outdoors, and enjoy hunting and fishing. The Club's purpose is "to foster a keen interest in outdoor activities" according to Mr. Mike Fritz, the club's moderator. Future activities include a hunter safety seminar, sometime in the next few weeks, an ice fishing trip to Cascade Reservoir in January, and a pheasant hunting trip to the "wilds of Homedale" later this month.

This year's officers are all seniors. They are President Joe Moloney, Vice President Mark Wisniefsky, Secretary/Treasurer Ann Brilz, and Sergeant at Arms Mark Troy. Mr. Fritz and the officers feel this year will be the best in the club's history.

President Joe Moloney feels the club is going to be a real success once the members get going, and we get some more new members. "We need support, I mean we have about 30 people in the club, but there are many more people in school that hunt or fish. If more people sign up and work at concessions and other fundraisers, we could go on a real good trip like maybe Steelhead fishing or an overnight hunting trip.

Olivers Donate Van To Kelly

This year, Bishop Kelly has upped its transportation facilities by one. A greenish-yellow van was donated to BK by Junior Marge Oliver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Oliver.

This van was donated at the beginning of this school year, to go along with the brown and yellow van, donated in the fall of 1976.

The vans are used constantly for such things as athletics and field trips. Before the vans were donated, buses had to be chartered which cost money, or students' parents were called upon to drive the students which presented the problem of insurance.

According to Dean of Students, Mr. Mike Fritz, students do not take good care of the vans. Stated Mr. Fritz, "Many times students leave food in the vans or destroy the seats. The brown van had to be reupholstered this year which cost 250 dollars, according to Fritz.

During vacations and school breaks the vans are kept out of sight because of the possibility of vandalism. This summer a window was broken out of the brown van.

State Meet To Be Run Today

This years' Cross Country team, consisting of eight male runners and six female runners, have had an on again, off again season. They have been mostly on the off side, however, due to numerous factors.

The boys have an excellent chance of winning the state title, but there are a few obstacles in their way that they will have to overcome first, says Father Rodenspiel, coach. Junior Mike Russell was hoping to lead the team again this year but is unable to repeat his performances due to injury. Russell was hoping for a position in the top ten in the State Meet. Senior Dan Allumbaugh has taken the lead this year by being the Knights' top runner. Allumbaugh is running very well and is expected to fall into the top ten position. Father Rodenspiel is quite pleased with Allumbaugh's performances this year and he is also hoping for Allumbaugh to place in the top ten.

The girls are looking for mostly individual honors this year, with sophomore Shellyn Sarni taking the lead. Sisters Michelle and Kim Huston are showing outstanding performances, and each are holding their own. The girls, are doing very well, according to Rodenspiel. They received the runner-up trophy at the SRV meet on two weeks ago Friday, and the boys' team, which was unfilled, came home with a seventh place trophy by David Grapp.

As the season draws to a close, Father Rodenspiel looks back and is pleased by all the spirit this years' team has shown. Father also added that this was one of the most exciting years he has had as coach.

FINISHING STRONG — Senior Dan Allumbaugh is one of Kelly's leading runners.

ON TO STATE — The Gymnastics team at Bishop Kelly will be competing in the state meet November 7 - 8. The gymnasts are coached by Miss Janis Taylor.

Gymnasts Prepare For State

The Bishop Kelly gymnastics team has the potential to win the state meet this year. However, due to the various injuries acquired by a few members of the team, they just don't have enough people to be seriously considered for the title. The competition level is high in all the girls and all are accomplished gymnasts. Even so, just a handful of girls cannot carry the weight for the entire team. Three of the teams top competitors have had to temporarily quit the team because of their injuries. Ann Brilz, Laurel Erdoiza, and Liz Mitchell have all been sidelined until they are able to get back on their feet again. This has hurt the team because they didn't have many girls to begin with. Coach, Miss Janice Taylor says she has no way of knowing how this will affect the team standings, since the final winner is determined at the state meet.

The Boise region is one of the few out of the Pacific Northwest, with the exception of Salt Lake City, to still have state level gymnastics meets. Some schools from outside the district are competing in our district. Some are from as far away as Nyssa, Glens Ferry and Bonneville, Oregon.

The separate divisions have been dropped and all schools now compete against each other regardless of other rankings they may have. Not enough schools have kept gymnastics on their curriculum along with football, basketball, volleyball and cross country. Because the gymnastics season is the longest, interest dwindles toward the end and other sports are starting.

Kelly Varsity Ends Season Against Kavemen

The Bishop Kelly Knights traveled to Kuna for the final game of the 1980 season last week. After a scoreless first quarter, both teams continued to play solid defense, when, with 13 seconds left, Kuna scored on a four yard pass. The extra point was good and the Kavemen took a 7-0 lead into half-time.

The Knights allowed two more touchdowns in the third quarter and fell behind 21-0. However, the Kelly offense continued to drive and finally scored with 55 seconds left in the game. Junior quarterback Pat Shalz ran 15 yards into the Kuna endzone to shatter the Kavemen shutout.

Senior tailback Chris Compton led the Knights' ground game with 91 yards on 16 carries.

Junior Larry Crump added the extra-point, but the Kuna won the game 21-7.

Compton, who came back from a knee injury incurred two weeks ago against Payette, was also the leading rusher in that game with 15 tries for 148 yards.

The Knights beat Payette 38-2 in their final home game of the season. After a slow first half the Knights held a 10-2 lead, but exploded for a 28 point second half for a convincing Homecoming victory.

Junior Larry Crump put the Knights up 3-0 when he booted a 32 yard field goal in the first quarter. On the kick-off that followed, Senior Dion Davies recovered a Payette fumble which led to Kelly's first touchdown of the game. Junior Pat Shalz hit Senior Nick Brady on a 12 yard pass and to put the Knights up 10-0. Crump added the PAT.

A bad snap on a Kelly punt went out of the end zone to give Payette a safety.

The Knights came back in the second half and quickly began to put the points on the scoreboard. Brady caught another TD pass, this time from junior flanker Tom Heffner and another extra point was tacked on by Crump.

Sophomore Mike Henry scored two touchdowns, once from the 1-yard line and then from the 9. Called in to kick the extra point was Chris Compton who drop-kicked the ball through the uprights to give the Knights a 31-2 edge.

Shalz returned a Payette Punt 54 yards for the only score of the fourth quarter and a 38-2 victory.

The Knights offense rolled for 200 yards on the ground and added 94 through the air.

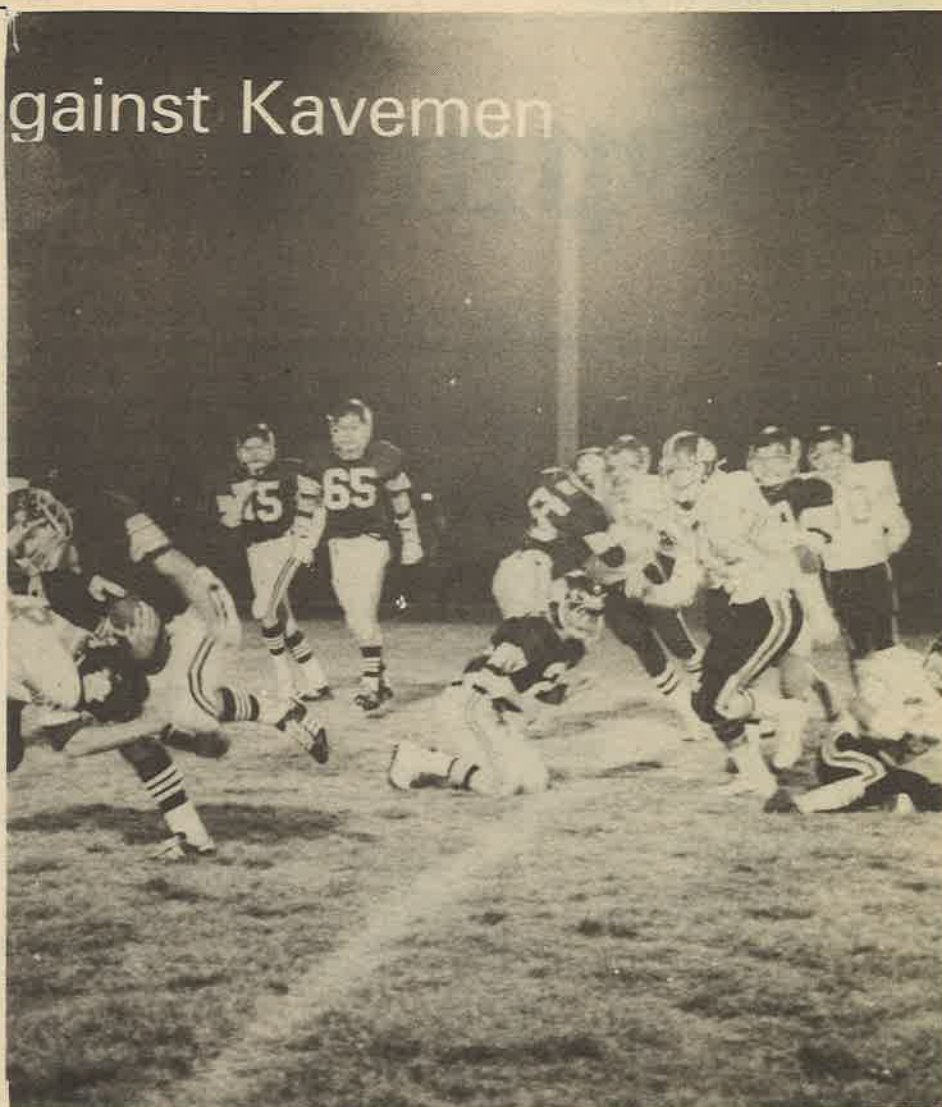

Seniors, Frosh Win Powder Puff Game

Monday 13, the first day of homecoming week, the Bishop Kelly seniors and freshmen placed a victory over the juniors and sophomores in the 1980 powder puff game. The seniors have remained undefeated for three years in a row, in which their freshman year, no powder puff game was played.

The game was played in fair weather, not too hot and not too cold, at least for the players. The ball was put in to play at 7:00, shortly before the sun went down. The seniors and freshmen played in white jerseys, while the juniors and sophomores played in black jerseys. The whites had a very good start in the game, bringing the score board up to 18 to 0 after only minutes of playing. It wasn't until then that the blacks tried to catch up, almost successfully.

At the half time of the game, the score of the game was 18 to 8, whites favored.

KNIGHTS WORKING HARD — Toward their victory over Payette. Bishop Kelly rolled past Payette in the final home game of the season. The final score was BK - 38, Payette - 2.

Volleyball Completes Season

The volleyball team has finished off its year of competition with an 0-5 record. However, according to Miss Eileen Loughney, one of the volleyball coaches, although their record was not the greatest and the best is could have been, the girls had a thoroughly enjoyable year.

Bishop Kelly went to the District meet and lost to Kuna and Wieser. Kuna later went on to win the district title.

The girls are looking forward to next year's games already and deciding what their plans of action are to be.

Fritz Anticipates Fine Hoop Season

The 1980-81 basketball season should be a good one according to a very optimistic Mike Fritz, head varsity coach. The first thing Fritz emphasized was his team's speed. He said the upcoming varsity team is the quickest team he has ever had the opportunity to coach. The team will be led by returning letterman and started, Scott Lawrence.

Another strong point is the transfer of brothers Scott and Darren

McGrath from Minico. Scott is a senior and Darren is a sophomore.

Coach Fritz feels the team's strength is in seniors Paul Fritz,

Mark Goicoechea, Dave Grapp, Tim Griffis, Nick Brady, and juniors Tom

Heffner, Pat Shalz and Andy Gustavson. "We should be strong in team speed, rebounding, and team defense," Fritz commented. He feels the biggest challenge from the SRV will come from Emmett, and Weiser.

He also pointed out that success must come from the whole team this year, and not just any individual. "We may start out slow, but as we gain experience we'll get better each week."

Heading the J.V. again this year is Mr. Neal McCarthy. McCarthy, the most successful coach in the SRV last year, said that they should have a good team. "I don't know if we can match last year's team, but we should be contenders." He expects juniors Larry Crump, Mike Russell, and Shawn Irvine to lead the team with help from sophomores Mike

Sharp, Mike Burke, Jim Pape, Mike Henry, and Kevin Carroll. "I think our strengths are good size and rebounding. The question will be if we have the court leadership we've had in the past," McCarthy said. Middleton and Weiser should give them a strong fight for the Trophy. "If we work hard, and together we'll have a very successful year."

HOMECOMING

Activities Dominate Homecoming Week

Homecoming 1980 started Sunday, October 12 with hall decoration. The starting time was 1:00 and every class was finished by 5:00. At the end of the week each class was judged by its originality toward the theme A Knight on The Town. The seniors won the contest with a close showing by the junior class.

Monday was Sports Day and all the girls who were involved in powderpuff game wore their jerseys and other students were permitted to wear other outfits that applied to other sporting events. There was a talent show sponsored by the key club. The participants were Kim Mc-Cullough, junior got first place followed by the freshman band called the Twits. Sam Fraundorf did a comedy act and came in third place.

Tuesday was Aloha day and anything Hawaiian could have been worn except swimming suits, halter tops, short shorts. Then at 2:30 there was a Field Day in the gym. The hula hoop and a variety of other contests were part of the assembly.

Wednesday was Fifties Day and at 2:30 there was a tug of war where the juniors and seniors battled it out for first place. The seniors came out on top.

Thursday was Lick-em-Stick-em-Frizz-em-Top-em-overall-day. At 2:30 there was a dunk-a-plunk three throws for 25 cents. Many students participated in it. Then there was J.V. football at Payette; Bishop Kelly J.V. overwhelmed the Payette Pirates with a final score of 35-0.

Friday was Black and Gold day and Pep club members wore their uniforms. Then at 2:00 there was a pep assembly for the football game against Payette. The Knights came out a little sluggish in the first half, but came out in the second half roaring. Within 24 minutes the Knights had scored 28 points. To whip the Pirates into the league cellar. The Queen Candidates were introduced with escorts from Key Club.

Saturday was the day of the final homecoming event. The dance was at Mardis Gras. The music was played by Black Rose. Royalties were Tim Griffis and Pam Richardson, King and Queen; first and second Debbie Cope; Princes, Nick Brady and princess, Mary Florence and Chris Compton.
